

SHENANDOAH HERALD

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
JOHN H. GRABER

WOODSTOCK, VIRGINIA.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1906.

In Tennessee, they have nominated a locomotive engineer for congress. He ought to make a good run.

Ex-Senator Henry G. Davis, Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1904, will be nominated as the Democratic congressional candidate for the Second West Virginia District at the convention to be held at Keyser on September 5th.

If the efforts of Hon. J. Taylor Ellyson, Governor of the Department of History, Education and Social Economy of the Jamestown Exposition, are successful, the history of the people and the products of the counties of Virginia will be presented to the world in the most complete shape in which it has been prepared.

Mr. Ellyson is now writing to the members of the boards of supervisors of all the counties in Virginia, urging them to prepare a history of their respective counties and many have already indicated their purpose of having done such work.

Topeka Capital: The Iowa democrats have pledged their support to Bryan. All three of them are said to be for him.

Butte City Inter-Mountain: The general strike ordered in Russia was a complete failure because nobody obeys orders in Russia any more.

Went to Sleep on the Track.

John Loving, a flagman on the Harrisonburg branch of the Southern railway, was struck by the Washington-Strasburg passenger train, No. 15, Saturday night near Front Royal Junction, and his skull was crushed. He died six hours later in the Strasburg Hospital. Loving had been sent back by a freight conductor to stop oncoming trains while his train was doing yard work at Front Royal. It is supposed that he went to sleep on the track. He never recovered consciousness. Loving was about 25 years old and was a native of Nelson county. He leaves a widow and several children.

Dropped Into Potomac.

Vernon Pence, aged about 20 years, son of William Pence, of Shenandoah City, was drowned in the Potomac river at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., Saturday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock. Young Pence, who was returning from Washington on an excursion train, stepped from the train, which stopped on the bridge crossing the Potomac.

His cries were heard by companions on the train about the time the body reached the water. The river was swollen by recent rains. The body had not been recovered on Wednesday.

How to Avoid Appendicitis.

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. Walton & Smoot.

In Chicago they are arresting looters for giving short weight. Good idea. Let everybody get an apothecary's scale and see that he isn't cheated.—Philadelphia North American.

Stomach Troubles and Constipation.

No one can reasonably hope for good digestion when the bowels are constipated. Mr. Chas. Baldwin, of Edwardsville, Ill., says: "I suffered from chronic constipation and stomach troubles for several years, but, thanks to Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, am almost cured." Why not get a package of these tablets and get well and stay well? Price 25 cents. Samples free. For sale by B. Schmidt's Drugstore.

KILLED BY CAR STEPS.

Frank H. Low, the 20 year old son of A. M. and Nellie Harlow, of Augusta Springs was struck and instantly killed last Thursday night by a step of a coach, hauled from the depot to the home of the Harlows, on the line of the railroad about half a mile west of the depot. As he was trying to get down the bank immediately in front of his home, the step of one of the coaches became detached and was thrown with great force, striking him and breaking his neck. He was an employee of the Virginia Portland Cement Co., at Staunton at the time of his death. He is survived by his father, mother, and three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Mama, of Craigsville, Mrs. Jesse Clements and Miss Cora Harlow, of Augusta Springs, and one brother Homer, also of Augusta Springs.

Young Harlow was a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M., at Craigsville, Va., and carried an insurance policy for $1,000. His family will receive in all from this order about $1,200.

DR. ELLIS DROWNED.

Ashland, Va., August 13.—Dr. Daniel F. Ellis, a member of the faculty and college physician of the Randolph-Macon College was drowned in a country four miles from here yesterday afternoon.

The particulars and circumstances of the accident supply a most pathetic story of the conscientious duties of the doctor and man. He left Ashland this afternoon in the face of a severe storm, accompanied by his 5-year-old son, Granberry, and was answering an urgent call for medical relief of an old family servant, John Hall, who lived five miles from here in the country. He was driving in a top buggy, and after performing his last mission of charity was compelled to cross Stag Creek, which empties into South Anna river at Horseshoe bend.

The creek at this point is normally about twenty feet wide and about two feet deep, but it has swollen to the depth of about 5 feet. The buggy, horse and occupants were swept down the stream about fifteen feet and lodged against an old tree overhanging the stream. The doctor evidently attempted to cut the horses loose, for the animal was afterwards found in the field. The doctor's little son was placed on the overhanging tree in safety and was found wandering in the field by Mr. Charles James. In his heroic efforts to save others, he was evidently entrapped in the buggy and drowned.

DEATH OF OTTO PORTNER.

Otto Portner brother of the late Robert Portner, founder of the brewing company in Alexandria bearing his name, died at the Strasburg Hospital last Wednesday after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Portner was 66 years old last January.

He was born in Germany and was educated at a cadet school in Prussia. He came to America in 1858 and for years he was associated with his brother in the management of the brewery, then conducted on a small scale. He retired from active business in 1886 and had since resided at the Chalybeate Springs Hotel, Strasburg. He was a man of strong mental caliber and fine social qualities. He had many friends in Strasburg and vicinity. He leaves one sister, Mrs. W. H. Wilkinson, of Washington, the sole survivor of his family. Mr. Portner was never married.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 12.—While driving along a lonely, dark road from Berryville, Clarke county, to Winchester, late last night with his mother Claude Varr, a young business man of this city, was held up by two men, one of whom grabbed the horse while the other attempted to go through Varr's pockets.

During the scuffle Varr succeeded in drawing his revolver and fired as both men fled into the bushes. Mrs. Varr secured a considerable sum of money on her person and defied the highwaymen to touch her, at the same time flourishing the butt end of a heavy whip in her hand.

Carelessness Nearly Cost a Life.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 13.—The carelessness of a colored servant almost caused the death by asphyxiation of Grace Cover, the young daughter of Loring A. Cover, of the United States Leather Company, here last night. In turning off the gas the servant turned the key on again. The child was in a precarious condition when the discovery was made by Mrs. Cover, but she will recover.

Why does the sun burn? Why does a mosquito sting? Why do we feel unhappy in the Good Old Summer Time? Answer: we don't. We use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, and these little pills don't bother us. Learn to look for the name on the box to get the genuine. Sold by Walton & Smoot.
